Porch Furniture!

June's warm and inviting days with the lingering twilight suggests the probable need of one or more pieces of porch furniture. Our stock of Summer Furniture recently received shows many new designs in tables, chairs, rockers and settees made in reed and rattan.

PORCH SCREENS

You can sit on the veranda in comfort on the hottest afternoon and baffle the efforts of Old Sol to drive you indoors, if the porch is protected with a screen. These screens come in 6 and 8 feet widths, made of bamboo, and when not in use are easily rolled up.

Prices, $1.25 and $1.75

JUST THE THING

We have furniture in bamboo that nearly every housewife will have use for during this coming summer.

Bamboo Tables are just the thing when light refreshments are to be served on the porch, or for holding books and other articles that one is likely to have with them while passing an afternoon on the veranda.

"The Rajah" (Edison.—Founded upon the popular English drama of the same name.) The interest centers about the young man, apparently languid, but in reality a lion. This is proved on two dramatic occasions, and the girl, who at first repudiated her guardian, finds at the end that he is a remarkable man, and that under his seemingly indifferent exterior lies something which excites admiration in all who come in contact with him. He settles a serious strike and then faces without tremor the loaded revolver of a man who has sworn to kill him, ultimately sending the man away. The plot is a character worth seeing. Moreover, no expense has been spared in the elaborate staging and settings. It would be difficult to conceive anything more sumptuous than some of the scenes. It's at the Dreamland.

A small but none the less appreciative audience gathered at the Congregational church last evening to hear George Kierman's dramatic recital of Rip Van Winkle. The impersonator came to Barre under the auspices of the Civic federation. He was introduced at the recital by Mrs. Frank J. Martin. Mr. Kierman held the closest attention of the audience for over an hour. Previous to his impersonation of the different characters of Washington Irving's masterpiece, he made a few remarks about the dramatization of the story which, in effect, was an appreciation of Joseph Jefferson's famous presentation of Rip. The great actor's personality and the peculiar interpretation of his favorite character can never be brought back, said Mr. Kierman. Hence it follows that any present day impersonator of Rip Van Winkle can hope only to suggest the methods and mannerisms of the inimitable Jefferson. In the recital that followed, Mr. Kierman, must have recalled Joseph Jefferson himself to those of the audience who had the good fortune to hear that great actor. His work deserved a much larger attendance and should be happy to visit Barre again, it goes almost without saying, that his efforts will be appreciated by many.
